WHY YOU NEED TO BE PREPARED...

Disasters can happen any time, anywhere. They can be natural or man-made, so it's vital to be prepared.

Earthquakes, hurricanes, tornadoes, fires and floods can cause widespread destruction. The 9/11 tragedy also opened our eyes to the reality that we face the threat of terrorist attacks.

The first 72-hour period after an emergency is the most critical. First-responders may not be able to reach you within that time frame, so to ensure your survival you should have a 3 day Emergency Kit on hand. They contain the three basic lifesaving essentials - food, water and a blanket - as recommended by the American Red Cross.

The food and water in these Emergency Kits have a 5-year shelf life. It is recommended to keep one in each location where you spend 4 hours or more on a regular basis - your home, office, car, or even at school. Don't be caught unprepared in a disaster. Your survival and that of your loved ones could depend on it!
