Listen to our Customers!

"I have been RVing for 15 years and we finally sold our old Class A. My wife talked me into getting a new 5th wheel and the very first thing I did was install a Hott Rod. I had a Hott Rod in my motorhome for 10 years with no problems and I truly love it. Thanks." - Jackson Miller, Texas.

"The parts manager talked me into purchasing a Hott Rod after a I kept complaining about the cost of propane. I got so sick of hearing that hot water heater kick on and off when we were sitting outside camping knowing it was chewing through propane (money) every time I heard it. Great product and easy to install, thanks for the savings!" - Barret Bradshaw, North Carolina.

HOW SOLAR WORKS

Go Power! solar kits charge the RV's battery bank to power lights, fans, and other DC appliances. Solar also extends battery life by ensuring a healthy charge level.

SOLAR PANELS*
Convert the sun's energy to electricity, which charges the battery bank. Solar panels mount to the RV rooftop or are available as a portable solar kit.

BATTERIES
High efficiency batteries are the system's DC power reservoir and store the electricity generated from the solar panels.

SOLAR CONTROLLER*
Regulates the amount of electricity sent from the solar panels to the batteries and protects batteries from overcharging damage.

POWER DRAW
DC appliances such as lights, fans, and water pumps draw power from the RV battery bank.

SOLAR FAQs

How does solar work with my RV?

Solar takes the sun's energy and converts it into DC battery power to charge your RV batteries. It is a battery charger that works anytime the sun is out.

How long can I run my appliances or electronics on solar?

This all depends on how many amps your load consumes per hour and how large your battery bank is. Try using the Solar Sizing Calculator on the next page, which will recommend battery bank size for the loads you use.

What is the difference between DC and AC power?

DC (direct current) power is drawn from a battery and will run several types of 12-volt RV appliances, like lights and water pumps. AC (alternating current), which is drawn out of the wall at home, can be replicated in an RV by using an inverter to convert your 12-volt DC battery power into 120-volt AC household power. This is important if you wish to run AC-powered devices such as a TV, hair dryer, or coffee maker.

Can I run my TV, refrigerator, or water pump on solar?

Many refrigerators in RVs can run on DC propane and AC power. The solar panels will provide power to the batteries, which will allow you to run the fridge on DC power and propane. Solar will also charge the batteries so you can use your water pump. Many TVs run on 120-volt power, so you might require a small inverter to run a TV.

Do I need to install an inverter if I only want to charge my boat or RV battery with a solar panel?

No, you only require an inverter if you need to convert DC battery power to AC household power to run devices like TVs, tool chargers, and microwaves.

Will solar work in the winter in my state or province?

Solar will work anytime it is light out and sunlight is shining on the panel. However, if there is an accumulation of snow on the panel, it will not work.

SOLAR SIZING CALCULATOR

How much power do you need? Consider how many days you'll be off the grid and how much power you'll use. Keep costs down by sizing for just what you need. Most Go Power! solar kits and systems are easily expandable as your power needs grow.

Step 1: Fill in the quantity of items and number of hours each appliance runs per day.

12V, DC Appliances	Amps	X Qty.	X Hours Run Per Day	= Total Amp Hours
10 Watt Light	0.08
15 Watt Light	1.25

Step 2: Total Weekly Amps Calculation

Multiply total amp hours per day from Step 1 by the number of days of use per week (i.e.: weekend camping: multiply total amp hours x 2 days).

GLOSSARY OF TERMS

Spin Welded: The patented spin welding process fuses the waterway parts into a single piece under-body with no o-rings, eliminating leak points.

Snap Together Construction: Waterway parts are snapped together and use o-rings at the joints to prevent possible leaks. O-rings have proven to be unreliable over the life of the product.

DuraPro™ Underbodies: Lead free patented DuraPro™ is a plastic polymer reinforced with glass fiber. The material is strong and resists corrosion from harsh household chemicals. DuraPro™ faucets are spin welded with no o-rings.

Celcon® Underbodies: Lead free, high strength Celcon® is a thermoplastic polymer that resists corrosion from harsh household chemicals. Phoenix Celcon® underbodies are spin welded with no o-rings.

Hybrid Construction: Plastic resin and powdered metal combine to create a heavy, lead free polymer that creates durable, high performance parts that resist corrosion from hard water and harsh chemicals. Molded, single piece underbodies have no o-rings, eliminating leak points. Water conservation technology uses 20% less water without changing the water stream force. Cartridges are ceramic disc or quarter turn washerless.

Water Conservation Is Important To All Of Us

Phoenix Premium bathroom faucets have been certified in accordance with EPA WaterSense specifications.

What does WaterSense certification mean?
WaterSense is a voluntary partnership sponsored by the EPA to increase water conservation by promoting water efficient products. Manufacturers offer products that meet the specifications set forth by the EPA and are then verified through third party testing (IAPMO in our case). Currently, WaterSense specifications have been established only for bathroom sink faucets and showerheads. The EPA is working on establishing specifications for kitchen fixtures.

The WaterSense certified product must:
• Achieve measurable conservation results
• Perform as well as or better than similar products
• Use at least 20% less water than the current baseline for that product

Valterra will continue to add more water conservation products to our lineup. We are working hard to include the best water conservation technologies in our new products. The entire line of Phoenix Premium faucets feature water-saving technology and meet all existing state and federal low lead requirements. In addition, all of our Premium faucets meet the even more stringent no-lead laws effective in 2014.
